Hiring the Perfect Fit Through eLance.com

If you have a project that you need to outsource but don't know where to turn, Elance might be your solution. Elance connects businesses with a pool of professional providers from around the globe. When you post a project on Elance, providers compete against each other to give you the best price and service. You can choose either an open bid where all qualified Elance professionals can bid or an invitation only bid where you can peruse portfolios and choose which providers you'd like to invite to bid on your project. Signing up with Elance is easy and it's free. Here's a step-by-step guide to start you on your way to finding the professional that's right for you. ;Go to Elance.com and click on the "Buy Services" tab located at the top of the page. This will take you to the next screen. On this screen you'll be presented with three choices: "Post Your Project", "Search For Providers" or "Get Project Review". For this guide we are going to focus only on posting a project for open bid. So, click on the first button, "Post Your Project." (You can always come back later to investigate the other options.) Here, you'll need to enter your contact information. If you do not already have a username and password, click on the "click here" underline next to the password box to get to the next screen. If you have a username and password, enter it now and skip to step 5. You'll see a screen with eight empty boxes. You'll need to create a "username" and choose a password. Enter each within the assigned boxes. Re-enter your password in the "Re-enter password" box. Remember to choose both a username and a password that you'll remember. Next, enter your e-mail address, first name, last name and phone number. You'll also need to re-enter your email address for verification purposes. Then, click "continue". Choose the category which best suits your project needs. There are 11 categories to choose from. These include: Administrative Support, Architecture & Engineering, Audio, Visual & Multimedia, Graphic Design & Art, Legal, Management & Finance, Sales & Marketing, Software & Technology, Training & Development, Website Development and Writing & Translation. Once you choose your main category, you'll be asked to choose a subcategory. This allows you to receive bids that better match your project. After choosing your subcategory, you'll be taken to the next screen. On this screen there are three main boxes of information to provide. In the first box, you'll need to Choose a Title for your project (e.g., 12 Business Articles), describe your project in detail (how many words, project deadlines, etc.), choose how many days you will allow providers to bid on your project, choose an estimated start date, a projected budget and attach any files that may be relevant to your project. The more detailed you are in describing your project, the easier it will be for qualified providers to give you detailed proposals regarding your project. In the next box, you'll be asked if you want providers to be able to seek clarification on your project via the private message board. If so, check the box. If not, skip to the next box. Finally, you'll be asked to choose how you receive your bids. The Select Level will provide you with higher quality providers. Providers will give you more competitive bids as Elance charges providers a higher rate to list as a Select Provider. You'll also be seen as more serious about your project if you choose this level. The lowest amount you can receive for your project is $250 and you also must pay a refundable $25 deposit to post your project. If you choose not to go this route, you can pick the Basic level which allows you to post your project without a deposit but you'll still need to be credit card verified (so that Elance knows you can pay for projects you award.) After filling in the required information in each of the boxes, click "Continue" to move to the next screen. Here, you'll need to provide your credit card information. Unless you chose Select providers you won't be charged. If you want to pay your provider with a credit card through Elance, you'll need to verify your credit card. Elance will make two small posts against your card and then refund them once you've posted your project. Once you supply the required information, click on "Continue". On the next screen, you'll confirm the information you supplied regarding your project. If you need to make any changes, this is the place. You can either click on "Post Project Now" to make your project active or on "Save & Post Later" to post the project at a later date. Now that your project is live, bidders can bid on your project. When you receive a number of bids, pick the provider best suited to your needs and your project is on it way to being completed.

Re: VIZ vs. MAX

Instead of exporting as 3Ds rather export as dwg,  straight into ADT no problem. What would probably be better is model in ADT, render in Max. All the plans, sections and elevations can be extracted from the ADT model. Revit is better at this than ADT but the translation to Max is horrid at best. Nice thing with Revit is that it comes with ACAD2007 and uses the same licence, which makes the transition easier. JHV

Description:

ANN : Kunimi Hiro and his best friend Hideo were baseball wonders... Until Hiro found out his arm was permanently damaged, rendering him unable to play anymore. A frustrated Hiro goes through the trouble of specifically finding a high school with no baseball team... Only to later on find out the doctor who examined him was a quack and his arm is perfectly fine. Hiro is quick to reinstate his dream: Creating a baseball team for his school and getting to face off against Hideo in the Koshien... The number one premier league for high school baseball.

AniDB : Hiro has two loves, baseball and porn, but due to an elbow injury he gives up baseball choosing a school with no baseball team. His childhood friend Hikari attends a different school with baseball ace Hideo and the two wish Hiro had not given up baseball. Hiro joins the soccer team but meets Haruka, a very clumsy girl, who is manager of the unofficial baseball club. When the soccer team challenges the baseball club to a game, with hopes of humiliating them, the baseball club nearly loses until Hiro, disgusted by the soccer team's arrogance, switches to the baseball club.

Uploader Comments:

The Ultimate Package of one of the various masterpieces of Adachi Mitsuru.

I'm a big fanboy and I couldn't sleep in peace without having this collection...had a bit of hard time finding the series since all the torrents I checked seemed dead.

So I thought it would be nice to have everything batched up in one torrent so everyone could freely choose what they want and keep the torrent alive a lot longer.

Personally I found the translation for the TV series way too abysmal to the point where I wanted to shoot the translator's head off, but on the other hand 'beggars can't be choosers'. :) The good thing is that you can turn off the subs since they are softsubs. Anyways I prefer the manga for the people who aren't fluent with japanese, and the other reason is that the Manga has a way more detailed storyline than the Anime and it continues a lot longer after the end of the Anime

I'll also upload DVD version of first and thrid Touch movies when I have 'em subbed since there is no version of the 3rd movie available...and the subbed version of first movie is a VHS rip and has an extremely terrible quality...so look forward to it.

Now download, watch and enjoy...Peace...

ps. greetz to Jarudin :)

216 linguists killed while working in Iraq

California, USA (SDUT): Nearly one-third of all U.S. contractor deaths in Iraq since the war began in 2003 have been employees of San Diego-based Titan and its new parent L-3 Communications, according to new U.S. government statistics. L-3/Titan, which has a multibillion-dollar contract with the Defense Department to provide thousands of translators and interpreters to soldiers in the battlefield and elsewhere in the Middle East, has had 216 employees killed in the Iraq war, more than any other entity except the U.S. military.

The end of sign language?

London, UK (New Scientist): Is this the end of sign language? New studies have shown that profoundly deaf children who received cochlear implants before the age of 1 develop language and speech skills remarkably close to hearing children. But although a triumph to audiologists, the findings could be seen as a threat to the culture and language of those born deaf. The deaf community maintain that it is unethical to give deaf babies cochlear implants. According to a psycholinguist in the US: "There is nothing wrong with them that needs fixing with a surgeon's scalpel".

Bridging the Gap

Washington, USA (CCHCP): Bridging the Gap (BTG) is the leading Medical Interpreter training program in the US today. The quality of health care often depends as much on the interpreter as the provider. BTG has been successful in helping interpreters and institutions implement professional standards for medical interpreting. In the state of Washington, this course is NOT a substitution for State Certification. However, this course will help you prepare for the certification test.

Melissa Axelrod, a life dedicated to rescuing dying languages

New Mexico, USA (ScienceCareers): Language is the thread that connects Native American communities with their traditional way of life, their histories, their ceremonies, their prayers, and the words of their ancestors. It's vital to cultural identity. Yet without intervention, half of the world's indigenous languages are expected to vanish in the next 100 years. [!] Once the majority of young people in a community no longer speak their heritage language, it declines rapidly. That's where Melissa Axelrod steps in. A linguistics professor at the University of New Mexico, she has devoted her life to rescuing dying languages.

Pivotal moment in the history of the Internet

New York, USA (Guardian): At a United Nations meeting last month, a bespectacled Swede made a small, barely noticed announcement that nevertheless represented a pivotal moment in the history of the Internet. "Regarding the technical implementation for the world wide web, we are done," Patrik Fältström told the Internet Governance Forum. By "we are done", he meant that following a decade of hard work by a global consortium of engineers and linguists, they had finally decided on a document that will enable all the world's languages to be fully represented on the Internet.

Multilingual legal glossary on-line

British Columbia, Canada (V Sun): The B.C. court system, a non-profit legal education society and a Vancouver community college got together to build a seven-language online glossary of legal terms. Unveiled Tuesday, Vancouver Community College's Multilingual Legal Glossary contains 5,000 words, with plain-language definitions in English, as well as in Chinese, Farsi, Punjabi, Russian, Spanish and Vietnamese. The service is available free of charge.
